COUNCIL DEMANDS ALL-OUT PROBE OF $2588 WATER BILL FROM S.F.

SAMPLE of "eyesore" sidewalks needing repair before city repaving projects begin in the older sections is scrutinized by Otis Calhoun, director of public works. Site is on Hillcrest drive. City is drafting letters urging residents to make the repairs as required under city ordinance.

Garbage Bill 'Raised' 50c To Finance Budget

A 10 per cent hike in city water rates appeared imminent Monday after the council found itself $22,000 short of a balanced city budget, even after instituting several increases in permit fees and eliminating the 25-cent a month garbage bill subsidy.

Predicated on the current $1.48 per $100 tax rate, the council opened Monday's session to find itself $69,000 short of the $1,319,345 needed to finance the city operation for 1957-58.

The city fathers promptly approved the following new revenue sources to offset the shortage: 50 pe rcent increase in $30 water meter installation charge, which will bring in $5000 more revenue; $36 fee for vending machines and raising pinball machine license fees to $100, which will net $9200 more for the city annually; increasing Broadmoor Police district's charge for using Daly City radio from $1200 to $2400 a year, netting $1200 more; requiring that parking ticket fines be increased to $2 and paid locally, insted of channeling them through municipal court, meaning additional income of $2200 a year; raising street permit minimum fee from $1 to $8 per 50 square feet, which will bring in $1000 more; and eliminating 25-cent garbage subsidy, which will result in $28,000 more city funds.

$3 Per Home

The last revenue source will mean that residents will pay $3 a year more on their garbage bill, which is collected along with water charges.

In approving this policy, the council agreed that there was no reason the city should partially subsidize garbage bills. In addition, according to Mayor Joseph Verducci, Daly City already has one of the lowest garbage rates on the Peninsula.

Two weeks ago the council was faced with approzimately a $100,000 deficit, but increased assessed valuation brought in an un-anticipated $32,000 which shaved this figure.

Earlie rthe council had planned a five-cent property tax hike, but the entire revenue shortage exists in the general fund, and the council has based its revenue on a $1 general fund tax rate, the maximum permissable under state law.

Councilman Michael De Bernardi again pleaded for a reduction in administrative personnel to balance the budget, but was advised that the budget had already been approved.

One No Vote

Subsequently, De Bernardi voted no on all the new revenue measures. Verducci and Conucilmen Del Wilson and Paul Hupf upheld the new charges. Councilman Sanford Vickers was absent.

Local Supply Adequate When Purchases Made

A complete investigation was ordered Monday, after it was learned that $2588 worth of San Francisco water had been purchased in a one-month period, in direct violation of council policy.

According to the council, purchase of the water was needless, since the Daly City system had ample supply, by using a "cross-over" system installed eight months ago.

The San Francisco water was purchased to serve the Westlake area, where Daly City wells have not produced sufficient water. But under the cross-over system, when there is a shortage in the Westlake area, water can be drawn from reservoirs in the Crocker area in eastern Daly City, and vice versa.

Questions Claim

Councilman Micheal De Bernardi brought the issue to light when he questioned a claim from San Francisco for $2588 for water supplied between June 5 and July 6. During the past six months total cost of San Francisco water purchased may run as high as $8000.

Public Works Director Otis Calhoun hastily explained that, "We've had the cross-over system in a long time. I gave order not to use San Francisco water unless I or the city manager authorized it."

Calhoun alleged that, "No one knew how to use the cross-over," which was installed by Cyril Weiler, temporary city engineer. "I had to spend three days straightening out the system so it would operate. It won't happen again."

City Manager Howard Stites was then called on the carpet by ired councilmen and asked if he knew anything about the unauthorized purchase of outside water.

"I'm Very Upset"

"It was my understanding," he said, "that we were not to use San Francisco water unless it was absolutely necessary. I'm very upset." He explained that Weiler had installed the cross-over system eight months ago to tie the two water systems together and provide a stand-by supply of water for either of the two areas that might be deficient.

"Wasn't there some sort of a

30 Mutilated 'Cats' Found In Crocker

Bodies of 30 mutilated animals, believed to be cats, were found in the Crocker hills back of Frankfort park Wednesday by Poundmaster Charles Maschinot.

Maschinot said county SPCA officials believe the sadistic butchering was done by the same person who has killed three dogs here in past weeks. In each case, bodies of the dogs had been mutilated.

The poundmaster found the 30 animals stacked in a pile Wednesday morning. Their heads and feet had been chopped off. For this reason, Maschinot said, it was difficult to determine whether the bodies were those of cats or rabbits. All evidence, however, indicates they were stray cats.

Maschinot estimated the animals had been killed about three weeks ago, placing the incident about the same time as the dog butcherings.

Maschinot said the SPCA has asked all residents, particularly those in the Crocker hills area, where all the bodies have been found, to keep a look out for the slayer.

Meanwhile, local police are questioning vagrants and persons with prior arrests for cruelty to animals.

26 Owners Ask School 'Transfer'

A petition bearing signatures of 26 residents in the new General Pershing school site area was presented to Jefferson Elementary trustees Wednesday night, challenging the district's quest for a 500-student school there.

Suggesting that the board allow time for homeowners to come up with "alternate" sites, the petition was handed over by lawyer Charles Majeski, representing Mrs. Irene Meussdorfer and those who inked the paper.

Mrs. Meussdorfer, who occupies a major part of the proposed 10-acre school site, was present, along with a handful of owners opposing the negotiations.

Agrees On Need

Answering that the petitioners realize the need for the school in the area, Majeski explained that his clients question the "efficiency" of such a move, citing in particular the encoroachment on San Francisco county property and resulting complications.

Led by chairman Hartley Appleton, trustees asked for concrete "alternatives" from Majeski. The latter said his clients had none at present, but would like time to get professional help to survey the area.

Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, trustees Mike Callan, Mrs. Katherine Mullen, Mrs. Doris Wimberly and Appleton took turns explaining the "obvious" reasons for selecting the site. Prime one voiced was the

Only Two Bids On War Memorial Job

Only two bids were received by city council Monday for the long-delayed project to complete meeting rooms at the War Memorial community center.

Both figures were well in excess of Public Works Director Otis Calhoun's $41,109 estimate for the job.

Bids were: McGahey & Olson, $47,930; Louis J. Canepa, $49,059.

The bids were turned over to Calhoun and City Manager Howard Stites for their recommendation, which will probably be submitted at the August 7 adjourned meeting.

Two JESD Schools 'Lagging'

Report that two new schools are "considerably behind schedule" gave Jefferson Elementary trustees additional gray hairs at their regular session Wednesday night.

Construction of both Vista Mar elementary, in Westlake, and Vista Grande primary, off Thiers and Wyandotte, are behind the expected pace.

Trustees authorized an immediate letter to Hart & Hynding, Vista Mar contractor, warning the builders that the district will enforce the penalty clause "if you don't deliver on time." The building inspector for Vista Grande will be asked to report at the next regular board meeting.

Both plants are scheduled for delivery in February next year. Lack of these schools this September will force the district to place some youngsters on double sessions.

Word that Vista Mar will be only 42 per cent complete by August 1 came from Ted Posten, the district's building inspector for the school.

Posten said heavy rains this spring and shortage of reenforced steel workers have caused the slowdown. He

A MENTAL MIRACLE

'Orphan' DC Resident Discovers His Family

At 46, Daly City's Mike Cubic, of 549 Hillside boulevard, has embarked on a new life.

After some 22 years of virtual darkness, Mike—through sensational circumstance—has found out who he really is.

He's Mike Kubik, Polish extraction, and instead of being an orphan, the gent has a family — two brothers and three sisters in New Jersey.

No Memory

The revelation, made less than a month ago during a trip east, was staggering.

Mike, you see, has been suffering from a "mental block," loss of memory.

Needing a birth certificate for his maintenance job in San Bruno, Mike was at the height of frustration. Not recalling where he was reared, circumstances of being an orphan, or anything tangible, he was stymied. Only one thing came to him—the name Wilkes Barre, a town in Pennsylvania.

So, last month, Mike took a notion to go there to see if he could track down his "lost years."

In Wilkes Barre, by mysterious coincidence, he found the answer. Mentioning his adopted name, Cubic, (since that seemed to be on his mind), Mike told the stranger he thought he was connected with Wilkes Barre in some way.

Coincidence

Miraculously, the stranger proved to be the very person who served as best man when one of Mike's sisters got married. The rest was easy. In less than a few days, Cubic located his brothers and sisters, scattered throughout New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Some 38 relatives, folks Mike still couldn't even remember when they greeted him last month, were shocked.

Moved to tears, Mike was further taken back. He learned that less than three years ago both his parents had passed away.

The brothers and sisters said they gave up Mike for dead back in the late 30's after

Rye Not Weed, Doelger Tells City Fathers

Daly City's program to abate nuisance of weeds and debris on vacant lands ran into complications Monday night when a representative of the Doelger company said the "weeds" on much of their undeveloped land actually served to control erosion and dust.

Carl Timmons, Doelger engineer, told the council at a public hearing that many acres of his company's land had been planted with vetch and rye to control erosion and dust and that technically, the two plants were not noxious weeds but perennials.

Almost all of Doelger's undeveloped land was posted with notices ordering the company to abate the weed nuisance. This is part of the city's program to clean up all vacant property througout the city. After posting, if property owners fail to comply with the clean-up order in a reasonable amount of time, the city will undertake the chore and place a lien on the property.

Otis Calhoun, director of public works, said he was not familiar with the use of vetch and rye for erosion control but indicated that the city might work out an arrangement to allow Doelger to cut the plants rather than remove them entirely.

Only protest, written or oral, was Doelger's. Council closed the hearing and instructed City Attorney Frank Blum to prepare a resolution authorizing the superintendent of streets to proceed with removing debris and weeds on property where the owner does not comply with the order. The resolution will be adopted at the next regular meeting.

Duties and concerns of school trustees do not end when they leave twice-monthly board meetings.

This week, the trustee received a "poisonous" phone call from an anonymous lady apparently quite concerned with district affairs.

The caller, sparing no abusive language, blurted: "You should have your head examined for even considering appointment of a director of education for the district."

De Bernardi Wins Partial Victory On Personnel Cuts

Councilmen Monday approved duty statements for jobs in library, engineering and park departments, but withheld action on the classification of civil engineer, after objections by Councilman Micheal De Bernardi.

The duty statements approved were for jobs already existing on the city payroll.

De Bernardi opposed approving duty statements for any new jobs, declaring that to do so "would make us duty bound to fill the jobs." In past months De Bernardi has attempted unsuccessfully to lop off many new city positions.

Action to accept the duty statements came after two earlier 2-2 vote stalemates.

Moves For All

Councilman Paul Hupf first moved to accept all the duty statements. Councilman Del Wilson asked to table the matter until a member of the personnel board had conferred with the council.

De Bernardi seconded, and the motion failed, 2-2, with Mayor Joseph Verducci siding with Hupf against the delaying action.

Vote on Hupf's original motion failed by the same margin.

De Bernardi then moved acceptance of all the duty statements except for those positions not already filled, and won Hupf's second. The meas-

Cemetery Land May House Industry

A local realtor's request for variance permit to erect light industrial structures on cemetery-zoned land was held up by the Colma planning commission Monday pending a public hearing August 7.

The Colma planners are in the throes of establishing a master zoning program which for the first time would allow for light industry and commercial development. Public hearing on the zoning ordinance will be held August 13.

George Lagomarsino had requested a variance permit to construct an auto transmission shop, a paint contractor's storage yard and an auto-body-fender shop on 2½ acres of property fronting on the west side of Old Mission road. The land is currently zone G-I, or cemetery, as is bulk of the land in the corporate limits of Colma.

Cities Precedent

Lagomarsino contended that the planners had set precedent by granting variances to other individuals to build businesses on land zoned for graveyards.

He cited specific dates and instances where commercial developments were existing on cemetery land, through granting of a variance.

The planning board — made up of John Newton, Les Balestra, Albert Belli, Rena Vallerga, Mary Mackie and Wallace Honeywell — ruled, however, that any action should be withheld until the master zoning program was established to provide for commercial and industrial development in specific areas.

Under the zoning ordinance under study, a classification of X-1 would be established, setting aside land for commercial or light industrial development.

'Zone All Cemetery'

Up to now, Lagomarsino said, the planners have adopted a policy of zoning everything for cemetery use, even though the land might not be adaptable to this purpose.

Lagomarsino said his piece of property was not suitable for cemetery use. He charged the commission with "delaying tactics," declaring that he had first made application for building permits and variance back in February.

An audience of some 20 persons, unusual for any public function in Colma, was on hand to see what the new zoning set-up was all about.

Attorney Richard Lyons appeared with Lagomarsino.

'Jackie Yaeger Night' Here Next Wednesday

Wednesday will be "Jackie Yaeger Night" in a portion of Daly City, as several dozen women will go out on a "porchlight" campaign to collect funds for the family of the 12-year-old girl who suffered serious injuries when hit by a car June 22.

Mrs. Frances Diltz, 129 Woodrow street, said homeowners in the area bounded by Jefferson High and Hillcrest and Mission and Niantic may leave their porchlights on that evening if they care to donate funds for the stricken child, who is still hospitalized with critical injuries.

Mrs. Diltz explained that there are not sufficient volunteers to canvass the entire city.

Others wishing to contribute to the campaign, however, may mail their donations to the Jackie Yaeger Fund," care of the Daly City post office.

Postmaster Vincent Murphy, a member of the Daly City-Colma Lions club, is coordinating the Lions part in the drive.

To date, nearly $100 has been contributed.

Jackie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yaeger, 465 San Diego, is still confined at Mary's Help hospital. She suffered a fractured skull in the accident and her speech and vision are still impaired.

Council Demands All-Out Probe

memo when the cross-over system was completed," queried De Bernardi.

"It was apparently a lack of knowledge on the part of some employee," answered the manager.

Mayor Joseph Verducci declared angrily, "It is inconceivable to me when you have top echelon people who don't know how to use this cross-over. Who gave the approval to use the water?"

"Not Me"

"Not me," reiterated Calhoun.

"I want to know why your orders were not obeyed and who did this," demanded Verducci. He directed Calhoun to prepare a report and relay it to Stites.

Asked by Councilman Del Wilson if the low level of the Westlake reservoir, cracked during the March 22 earthquake, had anything to do with the low water supply, Calhoun said it did not. Stites said later that even if the reservoir were filled to capacity, it would only supply the area for 48 hours at the most, unless the level of water was maintained by continuous pumping.

Verducci told Stites and Calhoun the city had "indicated a definite policy against using the San Francisco water. "You can see our spot."

Charges Insubordination

"I gave definite instructions not to use the water," Stites said. "I consider it an outright violation of my instructions and insubordination."

Not mentioned at the meeting, but apparently target of the administrative ire is Charles A. "Gus" Ford, veteran water department employee and presently water supervisor.

Stites said yesterday that the cross-over system had been installed under Weiler's supervision, but that Ford had been instrumental in much of the work done by city crews.

"I thought no more about it after it was completed," continued the manager. "Then this spring we began getting water bills from San Francisco. I called in Calhoun and asked him why and he said he didn't know.

After Calhoun reported that Ford had never used the cross-over when the Westlake water supply became low." Calhoun reportedly told Stites that there was sufficient water in the east Daly City reservoirs to handle Westlake demands.

Concrete In Line

According to Stites, Calhoun had to analyze the water system to determine which valves operated the system and then instruct Ford on its operation. On trying the system, Stites said, they heard an unusual amount of noise and, on investigation, discovered a big chunk of concrete in the water line which Ford had allegedly installed.

Three weeks ago the system started operating and the city has not had to buy San Francisco water since, Stites explained.

The manager said that as the load on the water system gets heavier the city may have to purchase small amounts of water from time to time, "but not if we keep abreast of the growth."

Stites said he was going to call in Ford and talk to him before submitting his full report to the council August 7.

ure passed, 3-1, with Wilson still voting in the negative.

In other action Monday, the council:

1. Re-appointed Tony Masini and Roy Foster to three-year terms on the planning commission.

2. Set August 26 as date for joint meeting with recreation commission to discuss location of park sites in Doelger land.

3. Called for a report on the performance of the recently inaugurated M. D. Ambulance, which replaced the city operated ambulance, to determine if the city should help the company secure a contract with San Mateo county for handling of indigent patients.

'Orphan' DC Resident Finds His Family

searching for him as a "missing person."

Mike learned that the last time he was seen by the family was in 1935 at his grandfather's funeral. A bachelor and 24 years old, he had driven away from the burial grounds and was never seen again.

Thinking that he may have been involved in an accident, the Kubik family scanned far and wide for news of Mike. Days stretched into months, months into years, then they gave him up as dead. Ten years ago, the family collected insurance on his death.

Mike can't remember his childhood, his family or anybody for that matter. Occasionally, things flash across his memory, but there's no continuity in recalling the past.

An Accident?

The Daly City man does have a scar on his head. How it got there is unexplainable. Perhaps in an accident—causing Mikes dilemma.

Mike came to the Bay Area almost 21 years ago after working as a newspaper reporter in the state of Washington. Why he tried that occupation, he has no idea. During World War II, he worked for Western Pipe and Steel. But he doesn't know if he served in the military. He's checking that out, too.

Mike and wife, Edna, have two youngsters. Don will attend Jeff High this fall, and Cathy is a student at Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

Confusing Situation

"Full memory may come back to me one of these days," Mike said, "but I really can't say. Something like this is hard to explain. I'm anxious to check with doctors or persons who have experienced mental blocks. Maybe they can give me some help."

Mike said he'll keep the name Cubic, "because changing it will involve a lot of red tape."

He intends to renew ties with his relatives back East, hoping that eventually everything will jell into a pattern.

Perhaps it will. At any rate, Mike is a lot more sure of himself, now that the past is opening for him.

state's stand on the area, based on accessibility walking distance for children and useable acreage. Weibel reminded that state officials, "who have the final say on all our site needs, have inspected the area at least six times."

Callan explained that alternate sites, suggested by Julius Castelan, self-appointed engineer for the 26 homeowners, did not pass state approval.

Politely informing Majeski that time was the key issue, the board accepted the attorney's request for a meeting with assistant Superintendent David Shapiro to discuss "alternate" sites.

The district has not resorted to condemnation action on the site, hoping to settle the matter "fairly" through friendly negotiations." First letters to affected residents went out several weeks ago, with the second letters scheduled to be mailed soon.

Many Willing

Shapiro said most of the 49 owners appear willing to sell without much fuss. "They certainly will get a reasonable price for their property," he repeated.

Appleton and Castelan engaged in still another verbal clash during the discussion, with the engineer refusing to leave as requested by the chairman. Appleton told Castelan that "personalities are not the issues here."

Somewhat stymied by San Francisco opposition to the JESD acquisition of 3½ acres inside San Francisco county, the board does have backing from the San Mateo county district attorney. In a letter to the board this week, Lyle Edson, deputy district attorney, stated: "We are still of the opinion that your district has the authority to condemn the entire site, but we recognize that the city and county of San Francisco could well delay the conclusion of your eminent domain actions materially if they wish to do so."

Acting for the board, Appleton last week met with San Francisco municipal and school authorities to discuss the problem. The SF officials, according to Edson, did not seem inclined to prevent the JESD move for the SF acreage.

Weibel again reminded that the SF acreage "is necessary because of it is contiguous to the main portion of the site and this is the only suitable area if we are to meet state requirements for the projected school."

Refutes Spears

The superintendent took exception to a statement by Harold Spears, SF school superintendent, who has opposed the JESD procedure "without first consulting us."

Said Spears in a second letter to Weibel last week:

In helping to plan for San Francisco's new schools the past 10 years, through two major building programs, I have become well aware of the acute land limitation problem here. Consequently, I have worked for a school land acquisition policy here that respects such a shortage, but at the same time does not sacrifice practical education standards for this metropolitan area."

Spears continued: "My own experience leads me to believe that you could build an excellent school on the seven acres which you apparently have in San Mateo County. We have been able to build schools twice that size on sites even smaller as explained in my previous correspondence to Mayor George Christopher."

"I have no doubt it is possible to build schools on smaller sites," Weibel commented, "but we can't do it under our situation where all money comes from the state and that body makes recommendations that we must follow to the letter."

St. Francis Sites

Builder George McKeon and the board talked on harmonious terms Wednesday night, which should lead to immediate agreement on determination of three 10-acre sites within the proposed St. Francis Heights subdivision.

McKeon presented his site designation for the M. Pauline Brown school, coordinated with Ted Tronoff, district engineer. Under condemnation at present, of the property from McKeon may be firmed in a special meeting next Wednesday night.

McKeon outlined the three other school sites, indicating that he would provide the best "useable" acreage.

The board accepted a $15,000 price for the Skillman property on Stewart avenue, thus completing negotiations with four homeowners to make room for the seven classroom additions at Benjamin Franklin school. The district will put the homes up for sale.

The Westlake basin site issue is being held up pending reports from the district attorney and city officials on "legality" of suggested partial use of Westlake park for a school playground area. Under this proposal, the district would require less acreage on the basin site for its projected schools.

robber a total of almost $29,000.

Liebscher, whose wife of three years was reportedly shocked at the charges, was arraigned Tuesday before U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh for violation of the federal bank robbery statute.

Harvey Foster, FBI agent in San Francisco, said the bank robber used the same "modus operandi" in each holdup. Dressed nattily in conservative business suits, the "pro" never showed a gun in approaching tellers. He always used a bag or cloth to conceal his weapon. Also, the gent would enter a bank quietly, waiting in line, making his request on paper, then skillfully leaving the premises.

The robber's latest caper, pulled despite a Bay Area-wide alert, came 10 days ago when $753 was forked over by a teller at American Trust Company, New Montgomery and Mission, San Francisco.

Foster said that cooperation of various police departments and the FBI led to the final trackdown of Liebscher. The suspect was arrested Monday night in a Fairfax used car lot.

The FBI agent revealed that Liebscher was booked in San Francisco in 1935 on suspicion of burglary. In 1956, he was arrested for collecting unemployment insurance illegally.

Liebscher's father, according to Frank Ahern, SF police chief, service as a policeman on the San Francisco force from 1912 to 1919.

The Westlake bank was relieved of the $1725 on July 18, almost a year to the day Liebscher was apprehended.

According to teller Mrs. Dorothy Mendonsa, a blonde haired man, six-foot and about 225 pounds, presented her a note demanding "all your cash, and you won't get hurt." He supplemented this with a man's sock, through which Mrs. Mendonsa spotted the muzzle of a revolver. The teller recalled that the robber had stood calmly in line, waiting his turn.

hinted that the contractor was considering a request for a 60-day extension, running the contract to 14 months.

Chairman Hartley Appleton answered that there was "no basis for any such extension." He reminded Posten that Hart and Hynding earlier predicted that they might even have the school ready in nine months.

"We mean business," Appleton declared. "If we don't get the school as scheduled, the contractor will suffer the consequences."

Asst. Supt. David Shapiro reported that Vista Grande is about 31 per cent complete, "even further behind schedule than Vista Mar."

"Hub Pacific company is catching up and I think they'll be ready to deliver when the 12 months contract is up," he added.

The board suggested that Isadore Thompson, Vista Grande inspector, appear at the next meeting to give a rundown on the delay.

Garbage Bill 'Raised' 50c To Finance Budget

The council considered several other forms of revenue, among which was a 10 per cent water rate increase, but all were held over until the council meets again August 7 as the board of equalization. The completed property assessment roll will be presented at that time and the tax rate will probably be adopted.

The water rate boost appeared the most likely to be adopted, as Verducci pointed out that it alone would bring in $31,000, more than the $22,000 needed to balance the city coffers.

Other revenue sources still up for consideration include a tax revenue stamp on all real property sold; tax on personal property; 100 per cent increase in business license fees; rental fee for municipal court's use of council chambers; and creation of a street lighting maintennce district.

The rare earths are becoming increasing significant in modern industrial technology as new uses for these elements are developed.

FOUL-UP ON THE 'CROSS-OVER'

In the words of the mayor, it is "inconceivable" that top echelon people don't know how to use the "cross-over" recently installed in the Daly City water system.

As a result of somebody's ineptness, the city paid out more than $2500 in one month for the purchase of San Francisco water—when water was available here all the time merely by hooking up a system which would have connected the Westlake area with reservoirs in eastern Daly City.

And over a six months period the city spent close to $8000 for San Francisco water, all of which might be considered money "down the drain."

The city manager is currently preparing a report to determine who authorized purchase of the San Francisco water.

In the end, there'll be a scapegoat for the whole bungling affair.

But determining responsibility is simple. The administrative heads must be held accountable for the operation of their departments.

The council has belabored the theory that the city will be run more economically by hiring well-paid administrators to extract the most work out of their employees.

And yet, when there is gross negligence in a department, the administrators can handily hide behind their subordinates.

Admittedly, somebody down the line did not hook in the cross-over system when he should have. The city has $8000 in water bills to attest to this.

But the chain of command starts at the top. Somebody neglected to give the order to tie in the new system, and the responsibility starts right there.

The city manager will have a pat report for the council in a couple of weeks which will give a detailed account reading like a senate inquiry. And the blame will be placed on a low link in the chain of command.

Meanwhile, the council should start looking at the whole mess from the top down.

A city manager, earning in excess of $13,000 a year, and a public works director, rapidly approaching this salary level, are paid for making decisions.

In light of the San Francisco water foul-up, it is questionable if they are earning their money.

OPENS NEXT FRIDAY

Apply Final Touches For SM County Fair

San Mateo County Fairgrounds is a beehive of activity with the August 2 opening of the Fiesta only a short week away.

Flags are flying from all the buildings, and the new lawns are up, trees and plants are in place, making the fairgrounds even more beautiful.

The Agriculture Tent, 220 feet long, is up and the carpenters are busy building racks, booths, benches and tables for county, community and organization exhibits including junior organization feature exhibits, farm women feature exhibits, plate displays of vegetables and fruits. For the first time some commercial exhibits will be included in the tent; food concessions and entertainment for the public's enjoyment will also be here.

The agriculture and home arts building is being readied for the many textile entries, and refrigerated cabinets and glass cases are being installed for perishable foods and preserved foods. The home and industry building is being prepared for the large number of varied and interesting commercial exhibits. The tent for the fabulous "Dancing Waters" is up and the machinery is being installed.

A lanai, or outdoor family room made of plastic panels and designed in the modern Japanese manner is being erected, one wall of glass overlooks an enclosed screen court filled with Bonzai plant specimens. A 10-by-18 foot swimming pool is being constructed adjacent to the lania.

Amateur gardeners are digging, mixing concrete and laying bricks in preparation for their outdoor garden exhibits.

The room where the annual San Mateo County Fiesta Art Exhibit will be held, sponsored by the Peninsula Art Association, is being readied for the paintings, sculpture, and prints by San Mateo county artists.

The Junior Livestock pavilion is bursting at the seams and entries have been closed. Thursday will be workday for the 4-H and Future Farmers of America. They will paint, clean and put the barn in show shape for the large number of entries they have this year. These include 74 head of beef cattle, 41 Dairy cattle, 5 hogs, and 131 lambs, 42 chickens and 31 (at present) rabbits. Fiftyfour head of fat and feeder beef cattle, 103 lambs and 5 hogs will be sold at the Junior Livestock Auction Thursday, August 8.

Bleachers are being put up for visitors to view the Folk Dance Festival, Sunday, August 4. Over 1000 folk dancers from the Bay Area will partipate.

New scenery, curtains and lights are going up in the Fiesta Bowl in readiness for the special event shows. Rehearsals are in full swing. Rickey Layne and his puppet Vel Vel will headine the first four days of the Fiesta. The Weire Brothers head the last five days.

The Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard are inspecting the parade grounds in preparation for their days at the Fiesta.

The administration office looks like an ant hill. Everyone is swamped under tons of paper, phones ringing, innumerable questions to be answered, people pouring in, photographers, those to be photographed, busy directors, beauty queens, special event features, amateur, commercial and professional exhibitors and animals.

The county Fair and Floral Fiesta opens next Friday at 5:30 p.m. It will be open daily, thereafter from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through August 10.

PAINTER AWAITS VERDICT IN YAEGER MISHAP

Frank P. Archini, the Daly City painter whose car struck down Jackie Yaeger, 12-year-old Colma school girl, is awaiting final judgment on charges of violating the pedestrian right of way.

Refuting earlier statements, Archini said he did not fail to appear in court for preliminary hearing. He said he appeared in municipal court on July 5 and 12. Both times the case was continued, he indicated.

Archini, 267 Wyandotte, had no insurance coverage at the time of the accident.

Service Club Chief Lauds Stamp Donors To Hospitalized Vets

Dear Editor:

Through your publication I wish to thank the many persons who so generously responded to our appeal for canceled postage stamps for hospitalized veterans. Since the appeal was made, these stamps, by the thousands, have been sent or delivered to the many disabled veterans who have found stamp collecting to be such an interesting hobby and diversion in their long and tiresome period of enforced idleness, often for years.

Although stamp collecting in itself is a very simple operation, its fascination lies in the fact that it leads to a study of the history, language, money, geography and ideals of the people whom the stamps represent. Thus it is an important factor in education as well as an aid to recovery.

Since th edemand for canceled postage stamps for hospitalized veterans always exceeds the supply, continued cooperation on the part of your readers will be appreciated greatly.

Sincerely yours,
Alma Rothschild
National Director

Seek Volunteers For Rec Program

An area-wide coordinating committee aimed at developing a better volunteer recreation program was called for Tuesday by recreation commissioners.

Under the program, all civic groups will be contacted to participate in a coordinating committee which will act in an advisory capacity to the commission and assist in recruitment of volunteers.

In other action Tuesday, commissioners heard a report on the coorinated program with Jefferson Elementary School district and the Broadmoor area. Representing the latter were Margaret Pauline Brown, Mrs. John Mitchell, Ed Lee, Stanley Brown, Arthur Huelse and Mike Orlich.

The commission, faced with a budget reduction from $13,500 to $7500 for capital outlay and improvements, allocated $4500 for capital outlay, the remainder for improvements.

SF DOPE ADDICT COLLAPSES HERE, ARRESTED AGAIN

A young San Francisco railway carman, booked previously as a dope addict, hit the skids again here Saturday morning.

Raul Solano, 21, of 275 Orizaba street, was found sprawled on the floor of a local printing shop. Owner John Degelantoni, 6347 Mission, said the carman apparently slipped into the shop while he was talking to another customer.

Officers Art Linhares and Ed Beecher, noticing Solano's incoherent condition, took him to Junipero Serra hospital. Tests there indicated the carman was under the influence of narcotics. Several pills, discovered in Solano's coat, were taken as evidence.

San Francisco police said Solano, alias Raul Martini, was placed on probation last week following a narcotics arrest.

Solano plead guilty Monday before Judge Thomas Bocci in municipal court. He was sentenced to 120 days in county jail.

United Crusade's Goal In October Is $11,748,000

The United Crusade will ask Bay Area residents for gifts totalling $11,748,000 during its October fund campaign.

That goal for the five-county "one-big-give" drive was established by a unanimous vote of the organization's board of governors meeting in San Francisco.

Members of the board from San Mateo County, with president Charles J. Kelly, principal spokesman for the county's United Crusade, led discussions in supporting an increased goal of $648,000 over the $11,100,000 figure which was presented to the board by the executive committee.

Kelly explained the $11,748,000 dollar goal exceeds by $1,548,000 and 15% the amount contributed to the 1956 Crusade throughout San Francisco, Alameda, San Mateo, Contra Costa and Marin Counties.

Volunteer committees in the Crusade's five counties, after screening budget requests agency by agency, reported that a goal of $13,800,000 would be needed to allow Crusade agencies to fill all the pressing requests for service.

Before October 1 the goal figure must be broken down into team quotas for some 50,000 volunteer campaigners who will conduct the solicitation under the general chairmanship of E. C. Arbuckle, Menlo Park.

P. R. "Bud" Taylor is chairman of the campaign in San Mateo County.

Here is the way gifts of the 1956 United Crusade are being used this year: youth recreation programs and groups, 25.3%; child care and family service agencies, 25.4%; community health services, hospitals and clinics, 8.7%; Red Cross, 16.3%; USO, 1.9%; national foundations—cancer, heart, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, mental health and arthritis and rheumatism; 7.7%; budgeting and planning, 3.6%; year-round adminstration, campaign and public information in all five counties, 9.1%; allowance for uncollectible pledges, 2%.

New Bus, 'Pool' Cut Hi District Transport Woes

High school trustees Monday night okayed purchase of an "economical" 67-passenger bus to bolster the district's fleet in order to accomodate heavy Jefferson and Westmoor student loads this fall.

The bus, the district's eleventh vehicle, will be purchased for $8590.93. Action climaxed several months of study by the board on feasibility of adding two buses—expenditure of about $37,000—or leasing the bus operation to a private concern. In both cases, high costs changed their minds.

In order to cut down expenses, Supt. Ed Morgan suggested a "common use" bus pool with the Laguna Salada and Jefferson Elementary districts. This "share the load" schedule still left the need of another bus for the high school district.

Sharp Park Seaman Booked After Crash For Felony Driving

A merchant seaman from the Coastside was booked for felonious drunk driving Sunday night after his vehicle slammed into a pickup truck, sending one of its occupants to the hospital with serious injuries.

Held in county jail is Hugh Girdler, 26, of 127 Hilton way, Sharp Park. Officers said Girdler's sedan collided with a pickup truck driven by Joseph Fuentes, of South San Francisco, at the Old County road-Paloma avenue intersection.

The truck whirled around and hit a utility pole. Impact of the crash caused the aluminum cover over the truck bed to sail through the air, finally ramming into a nearby home.

Mrs. Carmen Fuentes was taken to Junipero Serra hospital in serious condition.

The home owner, Josephine McCoy, 1210 Old County road, said she would seek compensation for damages to the door and wall of her residence.

Bill Adams, a 10-year sales veteran with Henry Doelger Building, Inc., has opened his own real estate office in Ross, Marin county.

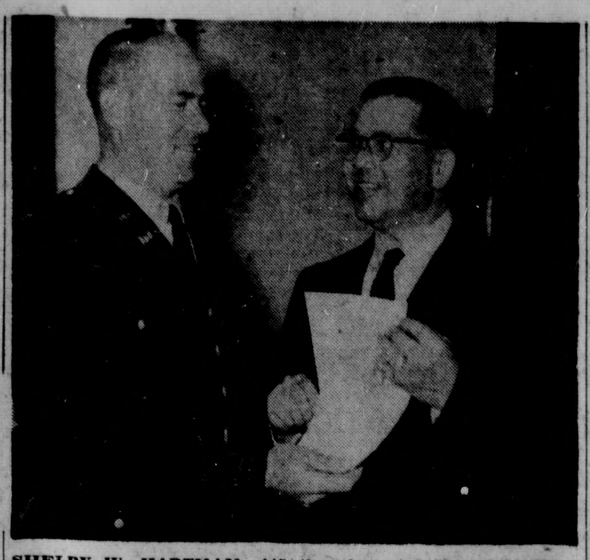
Vandals Break 40 Panes At Hothouse

Rock-tossing juveniles broke 40 windows at the nursery on Old San Pedro road over the weekend.

Jack Papazian, orchid-growing specialist, estimated the loss at $20.



SHELBY W. HARTMAN, 445 Wingate avenue, Daly City, recently received $200 and a citation for superior performance from Colonel John A. Graf, San Francisco District Army Engineer, for outstanding efficiency in coordinating the plans and blueprints filing for the Army Engineers. Colonel Graf said. Hartman's sustained superior performance had contributed materially to the district's construction placement of $41,000,000 in fiscal year 1957.

Veterans News

By Grace J. Hill

Children of veterans who died during or due to wartime military service should act now if they plan to enroll this fall with their $110 monthly educational grant from the federal government for college-level training.

Young people entitled to this educational grant must make the choice of courses, school and interviews, assisted by the surviving parent or guardian. This must be approved by the Veterans Administration and the school selected. The law excludes on-the-job and in-firm training, likewise training by correspondence, radio or television, and training in foreign countries. The benefit is not available for regular high school education.

If the child chooses to receive benefits under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act, all other payments of compensation or pension by the VA will be stopped. The grant usually begins at the age of 18.

Age Specifications

Application for educational assistance may be delayed until the 19th or 20th birthday. The applicant can still use the entire 36 months' benefits before the age of 23. Additional assistance through the California educational program for dependents of war-deceased veterans can also be obtained.

Further information may be obtained by visiting the Veterans' Service, Office Courthouse, Redwood City.

DC COPS ARREST DRINKING COUPLE ON COAST ROAD

Daly City police Saturday night arrested a San Francisco mechanic and his woman drinking companion after discovering the pair parked in a car on Coast road, not far from Westlake.

Booked for being drunk in an auto was Elmer C. Owinga, 50, of 134 Austin street. His passenger was Corinne Hopper, 58, an interior decorator, who gave the same address.

Officers were summoned by a motorist who said a struggle was going on in Owinga's car. The informant added that the woman appeared to be trying to leave the vehicle.

Owinga was released on $50 bail. His friend paid $25. Both are due in municipal court August 1.

New Law Paves Sewer District 'Annex' Moves

A bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis has been signed by Governor Goodwin J. Knight providing authorization for the annexation of territory by cities or counties for sewer districts. Under the present law no provision is made for the annexation of territory to sewer districts.

Francis, author of the legislation, explained that the purpose of the new law is to facilitate the orderly growth of sewer districts and to eliminate the formation of additional and separate districts where a single district would be able to expand to take care of the growth needs of rapidly growing cities and counties.

Procedures for annexation are detailed in the bill providing that the governing board of a city or county shall first determine that such territory would be benefited by the annexation and requiring the governing board to publish a resolution adopted by 2/3 of the members describing the proposed boundaries, designating the proposed territory by name, declaring the proposed territory would be benefited and naming the place of hearing of objections to the annexation for at least two weeks prior to the date set for the hearing in a newspaper of general circulation published in the city or county involved.

Another of Francis' many successful bills was signed by the governor provides for completion of "constructive service" upon a parent who deserts his child or children by making personal service or at the expiration of time prescribed by the court's order for publication, whichever occurs first. The new law applies to the "deserting" parent who is out of the state or whose whereabouts is unknown.

SM COUNTY GROUP OFFERS 'LATEST' ON LUNG CANCER

The incidence of lung cancer has increased more than 400 per cent in the last decade—most spectacular increase ever recorded for any disease. Survival rate at present is less than six per cent. Some 27,000 Americans are expected to die this year of lung cancer. This is more than died in the three years of the Korean war.

As a partial answer to these alarming statistics, a new film, "Cancer and Your Lungs," has been produced by the San Francisco Branch of the American Cancer Society. This 27-minute film employs a panel of nationally known doctors to explore possible causative factors of the disease.

Since recent surveys show that one of every ten men who smoke heavily will eventually develope lung cancer (odds for a non-smoker getting lung cancer are about one in 270), the correlation of cigarette smoking and lung cancer is discussed. The film further explores the possibility that cigarette smoking is not the only culprit of significance. Also suspect are the modern environmental hazards of automobile fumes, smog, asphalt road dust and industrial smoke.

"Cancer and Your Lungs" is carefully compiled from sequences originally produced for consumption by medical men, and from kinescoped interviews with outstanding researchers in the field. Skillfully narrated by Professor John Clark of San Francisco State, this film offers the best available information on a vital and controversial subject.

"Cancer and Your Lungs" has recently been added to the library of films of the San Mateo County Branch of the American Cancer Society, and is available to all clubs, fraternal organizations, industries, student assemblages, and other gatherings, upon request by contacting the local branch. DI 3-8495.

Almost 2 Million Korea Veterans Have Benefited Through GI Bill

America's age of technology has received a sizeable "shot in the arm" through the five-year-old Korean GI Bill education and training program, a Veterans Administration survey released today disclosed.

One-third of all Korean GI trainees so far have trained for jobs in fields where technological advances are making greater and greater demands for skilled manpower, the survey showed.

In many of these fields, manpower shortages are critical, but would be even more severe were it not for GI-trained veterans, VA said.

8 More Years

To date, more than 1,800,000 Korean veterans have received training under the GI program that has eight more years to go. Of these, 37 per cent trained for technical, industrial and scientific jobs—many of which were not in existence a generation ago.

More than 32,000 have specialized in various branches of science such as geology, physics and chemistry; another 135,000 studied engineering, and more than 400,000 enrolled in craft, trade and industrial fields such as electronics, metalwork and mechanics.

In addition to these fields, the VA survey found that the rest of the veterans enrolled in GI courses leading to virtually every type of job found in America.

Some 265,000—or 16 per cent of all trainees — have taken courses to help them enter the world of business. Most took courses in business administration and management, but a small proportion trained for clerical and sales work.

Among the professions, VA revealed that 88,000 veterans were training to be teachers, with about one-quarter concentrating in special teaching fields such as industrial arts and physical education.

Professional Outlook

More than 52,000 others were studying accounting; 48,000, medicine and related subjects; 30,000, law, and 6,000 pre-law. The social sciences — such as government, economics and psychology — attracted 24,000 veteran-students. And more than 10,000 studied for the ministry.

Another 45,000 studied art and design, with nearly half learning to be draftsman.

Turning to agriculture, the VA survey showed 87,000 veterans learning modern methods of farming, mostly under the GI institutional on-farm program which combines classroom studies with actual experience on the farm.

Some 220,000 Korea veterans were enrolled in liberal arts courses in college, or were in their early undergraduate years and hadn't yet selected a major.

Approximately 103,000 veterans were attending grade school and high school under the GI program, many of them getting the basic education necessary to go on to other fields of training.

VET FIREMEN INSTALL FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Joining the ranks of the 121-member organization were Frank Tardelli, Company 6 captain; Everett Mason, Company 1 captain; Richard May, payroll department, and Joe Grado, Company 6, secretary-treasurer of the fire volunteers.

Battalion chief Mel Hanson presided at the installation. Larry Shaw's committee planned the menu.

Cal Pacific Insurance Opens W'lake Office

The California Pacific Title Insurance company announces the opening of its Daly City office on Monday, July 29, according to a statement issued today by T. J. Hallinan, vice president, in charge of the company's San Mateo County operations.

The local office is in Westlake and will service financial institutions and real estate interests of the North End and Coastside.

Milton Bollinger of San Carlos will manage the new office. He is a native of San Francisco and has been escrow officer in the Redwood City office the past 12 years. His entire business career has been with the title company. He has been prominent in civic affairs and a charter member of the Redwood City Lodge B.P.O.E. Terrence Malarkey of Hillsborough will assist him as escrow and public relations officer.

Governor Signs 'Disability' Law

Governor Goodwin Knight has signed into law another bill by Assemblyman Louis Francis to prevent compulsory disability retirement before a state employee has used all of his accumulated sick leave or compensating time off unless he applies for or consents to earlier retirement.

Francis said the new law is necessary because at the present time, if an employee becomes disabled and cannot fully perform his duties as a result of an injury, state department heads are requesting the State Employees Retirement Board to immediately retire the employee for disability. In the past, the retirement board has granted the departmental requests and placed the employee on disability retirement and consequently, deprived the employee of all of his accumulated sick leave or compensating time off.

The state legislator added, "This legislation will overcome an arbitrary and unwarranted deprivation of an employee's justly earned sick leave which he accumulated with the understanding that he could use it when he was sick and disabled. Under the present system, when the employee is retired immediately for disability, even though he may have many days of sick leave to his credit, he is unjustly penalized for having saved his sick leave during many years of faithful service to the state and by not abusing his sick leave privileges."

New Industries In County For '57 Match '56

The San Mateo County Development Association was notified today by the San Francisco Bay Area Council that the industrial building permits issued in the nine Bay Area counties during the first six months of 1957 dropped 15.7% from the record 1956 figure for the same months. The current year's permits through June were valued at $22,506,510.00; the 1956 six-month total was $26,706,765.00.

Despite the drop from the record total that characterized 1956 building activity, the January-June 1957 figure was the second highest on record. The June figures, however, indicated a substantial lessening of industrial construction, 44 permits valued at $1,372,930 for 1957 compared to 60 permits valued at $6,378,131 issued during June 1956.

In San Mateo County the Council reported that the valuation of industrial building permits issued during the first six months of 1957 was $4,533,750, compared to $4,533,850 for the same period of 1956.

Office building in the same area showed a gain for both the six month period and for the month of June, while store building was below 1956 levels for both periods. Permits valued at $12,610,661 were granted for office building in the first half of 1957, with $9,728,421 the 1956 total. The June figures were $1,645,274 in 1957, and $1,483,500 in 1956. Store building permits issued during the first six months of 1957 were valued at $14,011,855, compared to $25,202,851 in 1956. The June totals were reported at $1,015,660 for 1957 and $3,993,901 for 1956.

MEET RABBI SHORE

B'nai Israel Boasts Outstanding Leader

Congregation B'Nai Israel of Daly City, known to residents of San Francisco and northern San Mateo County as one of the oldest synagogues in this area, has recently come to life again.

No longer in the orginal form, since the greater majority of the original founders are no longer alive, it has been reborn a conservative congregation anxious to preserve the beauty and reverence of Judaism and to transmit the heritage of Israel to the young American generation.

One of the men behind B'nai Israel's miraculous growth is Rabbi Solomon A. Shore, known as the "Modesto Rabbi," where he spent the last ten years at the helm of the Jewish community there. He was an active member in the Modesto Ministerial Association and a popular speaker in most of the churches of the area. Rabbi Shore was the official chaplain of the Scouts in the Modesto area and a member of the board of reviews. He was active in the work of the American Conference of Christian and Jews.

Thousands of graduates from Modesto schools of the high school and college levels heard the Rabbi's voice on graduation day, sharing with them the wisdom of the sages.

Prior to his post in Modesto Rabbi Shore was spiritual leader in the Los Angeles Area for a number of years. He volunteered as Chaplain during World War II, serving the needs of the Armed Forces in the entire Orange Belt Area from Los Angeles to San Bernardino.

In the Pomona area Rabbi Shore served as president of the coordinating council representing almost one hundred organizations.

Rabbi Shore was born in Lithuania and received his Hebrew training there under the guidance of noted rabbis. He gained recognition as a forceful speaker at a young age.

The city of Boston was Rabbi Shore's first home on this continent. Rabbi Shore attended several universities, constantly broadening his knowledge. Having spent many years of his life on college campuses he had a chance to learn at first hand all the kind of problems that prevail in our country today.

Rabbi Shore is married and has two sons.

The rabbi, a gifted speaker from boyhood, is also a noted cantor. Rabbi Shore studied voice with the late Riconi, baritone at the Metropolitan Opera House, and Jewish Musicology under the guidance of Professor Schnipelinsky, noted Jewish composer in the field of Jewish liturgy.

People of the Jewish faith, especially those fond of traditional Judaism, will find in Rabbi Shore a scholar, a friend and a genuine spiritual leader.

Preparations have already been made for the first High Holydays Services under Rabbi Shore. A fine and enjoyable service for conservative Jews of this area is planned.

The Ticket Committee will be at the Synagogue, 67 Los Banos avenue, starting on Sunday, August 4, from 10 a.m. to noon and continuing August 11 and August 18 to facilitate distribution of the seats. Further information may be obtained by calling the synagogue, PL 6-5430, during those hours. Choice seats are now available, but the number is limited.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

TWO for TONIGHT .....

Early in the first act of "Silk Stockings," which launched the 1956 Civic Light Opera Season, one of the principals, a film star accustomed to making a big splash in swimming pool pictures, sang about her type of movie which must be in "technicolor, CinemaScope and stereophonic sound."

It was obvious from the first that this stage musical was a natural for conversion to the wide screen technique, with Metro the logical studio to do it. For those who missed the original and for those who like to compare the two interpretations, "Silk Stockings" is currently at Loew's Warfield in Cinema Scope, stereophonic sound and, if you insist on being technical, Metrocolor.

Irresistible

Since this is the third time around for this tale of Ninotchka, the humorless Russian party member (Cyd Charisse) who finds the combination of an American (Fred Astaire) in Paris (the Studio) first annoying, then tempting, then irresistible, the element of surprise is naturally missing, but a generous ladling of musical numbers and the smooth assets of Charisse and Astaire keep the minutes ticking by quite unnoticed.

The songs familiar from the stage production are there, plus two new Cole Porter tunes composed for the film. The Choreography is tasteful if not stimulating, although we found some of Eugene Loring's familiar touches overly familiar.

There are all types of dances, from solos up to the Metro tradition of the big production number. If you like a big, brassy show, there's "Red Blues;" if you admire Astaire's long standing romance with his cane, there's "Ritz Roll and Rock;" there's an amusing bit when a ballet class keeps right on "fouetting" while one commissar is replaced by another, and there's a hint of the bump-and-grind school when Janis Paige (as the movie star we mentioned in the first paragraph) illustrates the changes made in a girl's personality when she wears "Satin and Silk."

Slick Package

At one point dance is used to move the story line along most effectively, as Miss Charisse discards the black lisle stockings and sensible shoes of her stark party unitofm for the gossamer hose and jeweled slippers of Western evening dress.

It's a pity that one is left with the impression that nobody believed in what he was doing. It's a slick package, beautifully costumed by Helen Rose, but there isn't any warmth or spontaneity or enthusiasm. And, Fred, you'd better do something for or to your camerman. Some of those angles were cruel, man, cruel.

COURTESY

Many an automobile accident has been caused by one or more drivers being blinded by the headlights of another car. When approaching another car on the highway at night, says the California State Automobile Association, lower your headlights. It's not only a question of courtesy, it's the law.

Something For Everyone

By The Staff Of The Daly City Public Library

YP means Young People. At least, in the Daly City Public Library and its Westlake-Broadmoor branch is means that. These initials on the back of a book designate a title in the regular adult collection which is of particular interest or pertinancy for the "old" teenagers and "young" adults.

Some picked at random from the shelves are: Best Sports Stories, 1956; Ira Smith's Baseball's Famous First Basemen; and R. S. Bowen's fictional account of a major league rookie in a Hot Corner, who learns that playing the game demands more than an eye for grounders and a whip across to first.

Margaret Irwin's lively trilogy about Elizabeth I of England — Young Bess, Elizabeth Captive Princess, and Elizabeth and The Prince Of Spain — makes that period as real as today's headlines or one's next door neighbor.

Men and women against the endless rigors of the Artic are delineated in Caswell's Arctic Frontiners, United States Explorations in The Far North and in the more personal account of Katharine Scherman's Spring On An Arctic Island. Harnett Kane, who has written all those lusty roaring Civil War novels, puts the same verve into Spies For The Blue And Gray, whose incredible exploits make modern spies look pale.

At Home In India by teenage Cynthia Bowles presents the modern Indians as people, not as enigmas or problems; while E. M. Forster's A Passage To India interprets the mind of the Moslem, the Hindu, and the Anglo-Indian of an earlier day.

Other new and old books for Young People are Neill's Hangman's Cliff, about smuggling in an English coastal village of the 1780's; Finney's The Plums Hang High, English immigrants pioneering on a Midwestern farm of the 1860's. Jared Tolbecken in Samuel Shellabarger's Tolbecken must fight the frustrations and responsibilities of bearing a famous name; Marguerite Bro's Sarah must decide her future in spite of the loving regard of friends and family.

These and many other adult books for Young People are to be found in Your Daly City Public Library at 6351 Mission street and the Westlake-Broadmoor branch library at 34 Park Plaza drive in Westlake shopping center. Remember, your library has something for everyone. Stop in now.

Women 'Safer' As Pedestrians, Association Says

The men - versus - women driver argument may rage forever, but the ladies hold undisputed claim to the safe pedestrain title, says the California Automobile Association.

Three out of four people killed while walking in traffic last year were males, the AAA motorists' organization reports, listing the following reasons for women's superior safety record as pedestrians:

"Men are naturally more aggressive, and, as a result, they take greater risks. You seldom see a woman dash into the street at midblock. They tend to walk to the corner and then wait for the proper traffic light before crossing. Women have more patience, a trait which pays dividends in the accident statistics."

The AAA says that another factor in the higher death rate for male pedestrians may be found in their preference for dark clothes. "A man in a dark suit walking on an unlighted street at night courts disaster because motorists often fail to see him. Women, even if they are wearing a dark coat or dress, are spotted more easily by motorists because their light stockings reflect headlight beams."

A third reason stems from the fact that men do more walking than women—particularly at night. "Seven out of ten pedestrians killed in traffic had been drinking," the AAA adds, "and obviously most of the people walking home at night from public drinking places are males."

Modern diesel powered submarines are equipped with a breathing device, known as a snorkel, which permits the vessel to draw fresh air from the surface while running submerged.

SF State Players Set Frisky Version Of 'Room Service'

"Room Service," the comedy hit which kids both the hotel and show business, will open a three-performance engagement at San Francisco State College this Thursday evening, continuing through Saturday. This is the laugh-fest which had New Yorkers rolling in the aisles for over a year, and caused hard-bitten metropolitan critics to tag it with such superlatives as "hilarious," "boisterous" and "rib-raising."

In the State College production of "Room Service," Richard Lee will be seen in the leading role of Gordon Miller, the theatrical producer whose efforts to prevent the eviction of his associates and his actors from a hotel involve all of them in one incredible situation after another. The ingenious ruses adopted range from a phoney attack of measles that become an exagerated case of tapeworm to a counterfeit suicide which one New York critic has called "the funniest death scene you are likely to see in the theatre."

J. Fenton McKenna has directed the local presentation. The setting was designed by Eugene McGinty.

Reservations are available at JU 6-3536, between 1 and 4 daily. Ticket prices are $1.25 and 60 cents.

FUEL PUMP

The next time your automobile is in for regular servicing, ask the repair man to check the fuel pump. This motor part gradually loses efficiency, says the California State Automobile Association, although you cannot detect it in day-to-day driving. If neglected it may fail completely at just the time when you can ill afford to lose precious time.

Arrest Brisbaner For Narcotics Sale

A 20-year-old Brisbane youth was arrested Wednesday by narcotics agents and county sheriff's office as a "small-fry" in what authorities believe may be a major dope smuggling operation.

Larry G. Conway, 332 Sierra Point road, was picked up by Wes Pomeroy of the sheriff's office and narcotics agents Edward Mantler and William Walker after returning from a 20-day Hawaii cruise on the tanker "Tidewater."

Conway allegedly sold Mantler, who had posed as a dope addict, a tin of marijuana for $15 before leaving on the boat trip. The transaction took place in a car on Bayshore freeway near South San Francisco, Mantler revealed.

Conway was not arrested at the time, as agents followed his activities for the next few weeks in an effort to net higher-ups in the reported operation.

Pomeroy said Conway was just a "small-fry" but that his apprehension may lead to more arrests.

Mantler said that at the time of the original transaction, Conway promised to bring him "pounds" of the narcotic in the future. Conway said, however, that he had only sold the dope to his "friends."

Conway, former Jefferson High school student, was booked Wednesday afternoon in Redwood City on charges of transportation and sale of narcotics.

'Mad' Dog Attacks Brisbane Youth, 11

County SPCA officials impounded the dog for rabies tests and notified its owner.

Marchbanks Park

Edgewood's alert softball team handed Marchbanks park its first defeat in a close game played on the loser's diamond. The final score: 13-10. Leading 13 to 1 going into the sixth, Terry Steele's Edgewood sluggers almost blew their lead when Marchbanks exploded for nine big runs. Edgewood scored their 13 runs on 12 hits, four of these coming off the bat of Jim Caruso, while Lee Bullock slammed two homers for the winners. For Marchbanks, Jim Hamilton hit four singles in as many times at the plate and Skip Crudo socked a homer, while Al Tabarez banged out a double and a single. Marchbanks collected 10 hits.

Two tournaments for 10-year-olds — and-under found Guy Aronson winning the paddle pool contest by downing Gene Duffy in a two out of three series by scores of 15-10 and 15-6. Others participating were Allen Stanley, Brian Stanley, Nancy Pietrunti, Art Rasmussen, David Erdmann, Gary Erdmann, Tony Pietrunti and Freddie Garcia.

David Erdman won the check-pool tournament by defeating Danny Drew. Erdmann won over Guy Aronson and Drew won over Gary Erdmann to reach the finals.

Big event last week at Marchbanks was the Carnival which provided children from all over Daly City with fun and excitement in the forms of games, booths, prizes, and a "Mystery House." The latter, always the special attraction at the annual carnival, was complete with cannibals, wild men, monsters, a witch, and assorted ghouls. The downstairs clubhouse was the scene of this house of horrors, guaranteed to provoke a scream from the most lion-hearted of youngsters.

"Thanks" for making the Mystery House a success go to Joan Malloy, Paul Tapia, Blake and Rocky Brunson, George Ambrosio, Danny Drew, Bill Fuller, Bobby and Art Rasmussen, Carl and Billy Carpenter and Darrell Crist.

Boys are taking a lot of interest in the "Model Building Club." Bobby Ritter has finished an aircraft carrier and battleship. Other model builders are: Rich Levy, Racing Car; Doug Becker Sports Car, John Arabian, Old-fashioned cars, and Jim Fotenos Sports Car.

Sign-ups have been heavy for our paddle pool and checkers tournaments starting this week.

Firemen estimated damage of $2000 at the beauty salon, about $3000 at the women's shop, mostly in merchandise that was ruined by smoke and soot.

A traveling salesman was Harry G. Blowe,
Who could sell ice cubes to an eskimo,
But he fell for a line slicker than his,
From a new car salesman—wow! what a whiz!

The car had style—years out of date,
The features were new—back in '48!
Harry's still smiling, the tears hardly show,
But how he wishes he could get back his dough!

Moral: Don't get "bargain-talked" into yesterday's styling and features!

Like a lot of people, Harry was looking for a "good buy" in a new car. But no car is a bargain if it's outmoded before you drive it a mile. For the same money, Harry could have stepped up to a dashing Swept-Wing Dodge—so new it actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Obsoletes their high, boxy design with the low, low look of tomorrow. Obsoletes their old-fashioned features with such advances as Torsion-Aire Ride, Push-Button TorqueFlite and Total-Contact Brakes. So don't do what Harry did—please. See your Dodge dealer today.

Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

AAA LISTS SOME PRECAUTIONS AGAINST MIDWEST TWISTERS

Despite the record number of tornadoes this year, your chances of being caught in one while traveling in the Midwest are remote, sayes the California State Automobile Association. However, since it could happen, the AAA motorists' organization has outlined a few simple precautions for tourists driving in twister country.

If the weather is ominous, keep your car radio tuned to a station in the area you are traveling for storm reports.

"Tornado winds travel at terrific speed—as high as 500 miles per hour—in a circular motion," the Automobile Association said, "but a tornado's forward speed is only 25 to 40 miles per hour. Since a motorist can usually see a twister several miles away, he stands a good chance of driving out of its path if he sees it in time!"

Although the average width of a tornado is about 400 yards, some have been known to cut a swath a mile wide, so the AAA suggests that motorists try to dodge them by driving at right angles to the path of the storm. In open country, if there is no chance to get out of a tornado's course, motorists should abandon their cars, get well away from them and lie face down on the ground. Better still, lie in a ditch, a culvert, or under a steel or concrete bridge. Never lie under a tree or near a telephone pole or steel tower, for these objects not only may blow over but they also draw lightning.

If buildings are nearby, take shelter along the inside walls of a strongly reinforced structure, or in the southwest corner of a house basement. Most tornadoes blow from the southwest.) "Never stand near a window," the AAA warned, "because the greatest danger in a tornado is being struck by flying debris.

"The automobile offers no protection, and remaining in one caught in a twister may increase your chances of being seriously hurt or killed. Cars have been rolled along the ground by tornadoes until they were hardly recognizable as vehicles."

These are the conditions that should alert tourists to the possibility of a tornado: hot, sticky weather with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky.

Pappy Previews 49er Chances This Season

By Roy Hurlbert

Portly Pappy Waldorf, cigar-chewing chief scout for the 49ers, Wednesday night intoned "conservative" optimism on San Francisco's chances this fall in the NFL race.

The legendary mayor of upper Berkeley steered away from an "overboard" prediction as he and 49er publicists enlivened a full house at Westlake Lodge.

Westlaker Bob St. Clair, the 49ers All-Pro tackle, caused Waldorf to beam when the ex-USFer voiced his personel preview.

Tabbed Last

"I notice in the papers (Eastern sportswriter) we're picked dead last," big Bob boomed. "That's good. Last year the paperweight estimate was about the same. You remember, though, we finished 5-6-1—almost .500 as Frankie forecast—and the mark was sixth highest among the pros."

Waldorf, who never looked more relaxed, allowed as how Albert and company will do okay this season. The conductor for three California Rose Bowl expresses reminded that John Brodie and a flock of rookies could make quite a difference. He also tossed a few good words about St. Clair's importance in the picture.

Pappy will have his traveling bags in hand beginning next month, when he invades Soldier Field (Chicago) to scan the collegiate crop in the annual All-Star clash against the New York Giants, 1956 pro kings.

Maryland Mike

Several 49ers prizes will go in that one. Main lad, according to Waldorf, is Mike Sandusky, the guard from Maryland, two-time All-American. Albert, Waldorf revealed, may start Sandusky in the offensive forward wall, believing the former Terrapin terror will fit right in.

Questioned about the transfer of John Henry Johnson, the steam-driving moose from Antioch, Pappy wasted no words.

"John Henry, whom I've watched with special interest since his Pittsburg High days, certainly is a fine ballplayer. We feel Bill Stits and Bill Bowman (two Detroiters in the swap) will justify the move."

"In three years against (UCLA defensive stalwart), my Bears not once fooled the boy. He's agile and aggressive, and Frankie believes he'll fill a real gap in the secondary."

Bowman, so-so last year because of a pulled muscle, no doubt will roll at fullback, Waldorf continued.

"Defense is our chief concern. We don't worry much about moving the ball. And with Brodie and Morrall behind Tittle, a steady play-caller, the 49ers are exceptionally strong."

Linemen First

Pappy reeled off a long list of seniors he'll be watching this fall on his barnstorming "look-see" itinerary. Most of the desirables are up-front huskies.

"We have one solid test for signing line candidates," the Wise Walrus barked.

"First, I get a teeter-totter. I get on one end and ask the prospective 49er to park at the other extreme. If his weight shoots me up into the air, I get out the contract."

Quite mum on most points, Pappy answered several questions in the informal session. He again pronounced strong faith in Pete Elliot, his successor at Cal.

"Pete has ideas, he's young and a gambler. You can be sure the Bears will play interesting football."

Cal did just that under Waldorf . . . . a personable gent who enjoys nothing more than the knife and fork circuit. He's right at home . . . . as long as football is on the menu.

Without shooting . . . without sirens . . . without fast getaway cars and underworld lingo . . . told in a straightforeward factual narration, the program proved to be an intensely dramatic story and accurate portrayal of California's famous penal institution. It was the true story of an inmate known simply as "Bob." Following the preview, he was interviewed by the press. During the press conference prison officials stressed the fact that they believed the documentary was an accurate description of life as it goes on behind the walls, Questioned by the press, Bob agreed that from an inmate's viewpoint it was an true account.

We like documentaries on television and believe strongly that long after light comedy fare has faded from our memories, the impact of a show such as "This is San Quentin" will remain with us. Congratulations to KPIX on another outstanding public service program!

PITCHERS SPARKLE

Light-Hitting Drug 9 Bags Two More Wi[n]

Mustering only three hits both Saturday and Sunday at Marchbanks, Daly City Drugs still downed the Westlake Rockets, 4-3, then blanked Milano Inn, 5-0.

Barry Krohn fanned twelve Rockets while walking only two, but scattered six hits in all but the third inning when the Westlakers scored two runs on two hits and a couple of miscues. The Rockets other tally came in the sixth after Ahearn fanned, but McAtee singled to right.

Eastman then walked, and Heick loaded the bags with an hurler, drove in the run with infield single. Nelson, Rocket a sock to left. Krohn whiffed Mike Kennedy for the fourth time, and fanned Tarens for the last out with the bases loaded.

The Creighton-Krohn kids picked up their first run in the fourth when Mike Rovai walked and stole second. Mike O'Leary walked and ond. Mike O'Leary walked and Bill Hynes moved them along with an infield single. Krohn walked to tally Rovai. They tallied two more in the fifth when Frank Dykes opened with a walk, and was followed down the paths by Georgie Claus. Rovai sacrificed them to third and second, then Terry Christman singled to center to score Dykes, O'Leary scored Claus [on] long fly to left.

Rovai registered th[e] breaker in the top of th[e] enth after walking and [s]ing second for the second. He moved to third on C[la]man's deep smash to first, Mike O'Leary brought [Ro]home with a sizzler past[ure] nedy.

Danny Luciano made [se]eral sparkling catches in [the] ter and Billy Hix playe[d] usual fine game at [sh]Krohn's clutch pitching [was] the difference. He struck out the side in three innings.

Terry Christman held the Milano lads to five scattered hits, walking only two until the last inning. After Welch and George Alvarez lead off with hits in the fifth, he was helped by a fast double play—Bruce Hix to Billy Hix to Krohn, and then got Russ Kunkle on a fly to sho[rt].

The Milano victory gave the Tom Bournellis' kids two wins in the Daly City Junior League. They'll meet the Coastside Lions at Marchbanks at 11 this Sunday.

This Saturday the Druggists play a practice tilt against the South Sunset Jrs. at West Sunset, a warmup for their league debut in a new San Francisco circuit on August 3.

AAA LISTS SOME PRECAUTIONS AGAINST MIDWEST TWISTERS

Despite the record number of tornadoes this year, your chances of being caught in one while traveling in the Midwest are remote, sayes the California State Automobile Association. However, since it could happen, the AAA motorists' organization has outlined a few simple precautions for tourists driving in twister country.

If the weather is ominous, keep your car radio tuned to a station in the area you are traveling for storm reports.

"Tornado winds travel at terrific speed—as high as 500 miles per hour—in a circular motion," the Automobile Association said, "but a tornado's forward speed is only 25 to 40 miles per hour. Since a motorist can usually see a twister several miles away, he stands a good chance of driving out of its path if he sees it in time!"

Although the average width of a tornado is about 400 yards, some have been known to cut a swath a mile wide, so the AAA suggests that motorists try to dodge them by driving at right angles to the path of the storm. In open country, if there is no chance to get out of a tornado's course, motorists should abandon their cars, get well away from them and lie face down on the ground. Better still, lie in a ditch, a culvert, or under a steel or concrete bridge. Never lie under a tree or near a telephone pole or steel tower, for these objects not only may blow over but they also draw lightning.

If buildings are nearby, take shelter along the inside walls of a strongly reinforced structure, or in the southwest corner of a house basement. Most tornadoes blow from the southwest.) "Never stand near a window," the AAA warned, "because the greatest danger in a tornado is being struck by flying debris.

"The automobile offers no protection, and remaining in one caught in a twister may increase your chances of being seriously hurt or killed. Cars have been rolled along the ground by tornadoes until they were hardly recognizable as vehicles."

These are the conditions that should alert tourists to the possibility of a tornado: hot, sticky weather with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky.
